

The Creatures, Slipping Away

pale against the sun
my world is slowly dissolving
ground beneath my feet
it's melting away
black falls into black
I'm just a shadow
of
my former self
losing gravity
don't you know I'm slipping away
fix your stare load your eyes now I'm shot down in flames
fix your stare load your eyes
all in the firmament
flares
a sea of melting clocks
the tick-tock
time dripping away
all that was for real
is just a memory
starting to fade
all that was for real
just a memory
slipping away
it's slipping
away