The Cure, I'm Cold

You're begging me to stay But I'm laughing in your face You're so desperate Not to let those years of care All go to waste But it was you who wanted love Not romance You have to pay the price My body may be made of fire But my soul is made of ice

I'm me I'm cold I'm cold I'm told I'd love to love you girl But my body has just been sold
