The Damned, No More Tears

Feeling crazy in a crowd So alone, and I don't know why

Don't always seem so right inside There's a change and it's It's, always rising

Should I laugh, should I cry Should I just let it go No more time to change my mind It's on with the show And no more tears

Sure enough the clouds will cry To wash away this, this mood That I'm feeling

In the shadows cut from life See the faces, as they roll on by

Should I laugh, should I cry Should I just let it go No more time to change my mind It's just on with the show Just no more tears