The Dandy Warhols, Big Indian

Well my friends do me so right I'm lucky this far Or maybe it's karma I get over them, but Only at times

And I thank my lucky stars I wish I may, I wish that I might Just keep an open mind All of the time

My old man told me one time You never get wise, you only get older And most things, you never know why But that's fine

When the future is frightening And I seem to be fighting it Well soon as it's brightening Then I, I feel fine, and then I I feel fine

Well my friends do me so right I'm lucky this far Or maybe it's karma I get over them, but Only at times

Well the future is frightening And I seem to be fighting it But soon as it's brightening Well the future is brightening The future is frightening, but I I feel fine Oh yes I, I feel fine
