

The Echoing Green, Oxygen

I have something that I wanna share with you
I find it so hard to make the words explain
If there was one thing left I could embrace
It'd be your face, it'd be your grace
I take you in Like...

Oxygen
You're the air I'm breathing
Oxygen
I breathe the Breath of Life

I am dreaming of flying through the air with you
I feel communion
Between the love that was and is and shall be
If there was one thing left I could embrace
It'd be your face, it'd be your grace
When it seems I'd drown in all my sin
I take you in...like oxygen

You're the one who touches me
Surrounding me
Then I breathe...life

You're the one who touches me
Surrounding me
Then I breathe...life
