

The End Machine, Killer of the Night

Trapped in a prison deep inside my mind
The key to unlock this door I'll never find
I'm counting the seasons year after year
I've tried to fight the monster killing me with fear

Will this nightmare ever end
Will I ever find the strength to fight again

It's getting hard to see
It's getting hard to breathe
Will I run and hide
Or will I stand and fight
Against the killer of the night
Killer of the night

The more the road clears for me
The more I feel the infinity
An endless sky painted in grey
Is this a point of no return
Or just another lesson for me to learn
Is this really a game for me to play

I've tried to smile I've tried to hide
This pain inside that I can't deny

It's getting hard to see
It's getting hard to breathe
Will I run and hide
Or will I stand and fight
Against the killer of the night

Now the bell is ringing
And the clock is ticking
I can feel the fury of the one who claims my soul
As the darkness surrounds me
The reapers ready to slice me
Will my mind succumb to this never yielding enemy

Oh! I'm too far away to look behind
I don't know if I wanna know
What lies ahead of me

I'll keep on moving
I'll keep on fighting

It's getting hard to breathe
It's getting hard to see
With this darkness surrounding me
But I'll keep on fighting

Against the killer of the night
Against the killer of the night
The killer of night