The Finn Brothers, Luckiest Man Alive

I know that it's you behind Everything that I do And I wouldn't try to hide Who I am from you

It's all me
That you see
I was ready for another try
But I needed you to set me free
Must be the luckiest man alive

Man finds love in his life He's the luckiest man alive Someone true by his side He's the luckiest man alive Once you cut right through His foolish pride He's the luckiest man alive

I've never had the time before Leaving things where they fell I was going door to door Always thinking I was somewhere else

You saw me And what I could be And now I know what love is for It's the only thing sets you free Must be the luckiest man alive

Man finds love in his life He's the luckiest man alive Someone true by his side He's the luckiest man alive She cut right through His foolish pride He's the luckiest man alive

Feel the motion It's an endless ocean Rocking gently and Moving deeply Feels like always Been knocked sideways Over and over by the Strength of your love

Man finds love
Man finds love in his eyes
He's the luckiest man alive
Someone true
Man finds love
He's the luckiest man alive
Someone true
