

The Fray, Rainy Zurich

In midair and floating off to space,
I'm moving in,
Your hair is falling all around my face,
Like a parachute,
I'm breathing in,
You're breathing out the same,
We give and take,
And let the water fall on the flame,
It's not burning out

I'll keep you warm,
Dancing in a downpour,
And I will hold your body slowly turning,
I'll keep you warm,
Dancing in a downpour,
Breathe it in,
We'll take it off and soak our skin

She's in a town that holds a lonely road,
And the night is falling,
There's a road that follows to a home,
And the sky is heavy,
In the home she's in a lonely room,
With music playing,
Can she hear my heart coming through,
On the door between

I'll keep you warm,
Dancing in a downpour,
And I will hold your body slowly turning,
I'll keep you warm,
Dancing in a downpour,
Breathe it in,
We'll take it off and soak

Maybe I'll find you,
Maybe I won't,
Baby I'll try to,
Even if I don't,
You are what I never knew I needed,
What I never knew I needed,
What I never knew I needed,
Almost there

I'll keep you warm,
Dancing in a downpour,
And I will hold your body slowly turning,
I'll keep you warm,
Dancing in a downpour,
Breathe it in,
We'll take it off and soak
