

The Fray, Without Reason

I do it on a whim,
its right without reason whatever comes to mind I'll pull it from thin air.
I've learned to improvise to fill my time
I don't want to live this life,
no I don't want to live this life without reason.
Never want to live without it,
never want to live,
I don't want to live without reason.
I do it on a whim,
with no motivation following this line and I don't know why, but I've learned to capture time it's my redirection
I don't want to live this life,
no I don't want to live this life without reason Never want to live without it,
never want to live,
I don't want to live without reason.
You want to work to spend to show.
You want to talk to smile to feel.
You want to run to thirst to drink.
You want to love to know it's real.
Never want to live without,
never want to live,
I don't want to live without reason
