

The Go Set, Fade

Time, is catching up on me again
Like an old friend, coming home again
Theres a place, where its easier to remember a face
So far away, everything changed
And I'm waiting for it to, come through the door, following you
I'm scared to go, but I can't seem to keep it all together
I will recognise you, and I'll always be looking for you,
Far away, in that place we've not been before and I'd say
The light is fading, walls are falling
Everyday, we move on from something
Far away, we're in the place we've not been before