

The Kelly Family, Life Can Be So Beautiful

I don't want to waste all this time
I just wanna start living for real
I don't want to waste all my time
Being locked up in my own little movie
Part of me wants to stay a child
The other is saying Angelo you better grow up quick
For God has given you a baby boy
And he wants you to try and be a good father
Life can be so beautiful
It depends what you make of it all
Oh I believe that life can be so wonderful
As long as I try to treat everyday like my last
I think I'm not thanking God enough
For all the great presents I've received in my life
Especially for my beautiful and loving wife
Oh Kira I think without you I would never have made it
Life can be so beautiful
It depends what you make of it all
Having children and a wife is something wonderful
And I'll never ever trade with something else in this world
