

The Kelly Family, Life on stage

Life on the stage, for music we laugh, give it to others smiling and crying and they give it all back.

Here is the world, back to the days, for struggle and troubles, no one was there, alone in the streets, we learned to survive winters and summers, that we never forget.

Running higher, much higher than ever and we choosed the strong we choosed together, live on the stage, we die on the stage for music well live and for music well die
