The Killers, Everything Will Be Alright

Du-du-dudu

I believe in you and me I'm coming to find you If it takes me all night Run until you make it right And I won't forget you At least I'll try And run and run Tonight

Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright

Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright

Lalalala Oh Ho Whilst I was out shopping for a doll To say the least, I've thought I've seen them all Then you took me by surprise I'm dreaming about those dreamy eyes I never knew, I never knew So take your suitcases I don't mind And maybe though I meant to Every time

You don't need to compromise I'm dreaming about those dreamy eyes I never knew, I never knew But it's alright

Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright

Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright

Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright

Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Everything will be alright Will be alright