The Killers, Midnight Show

I know what you want I'm gonna take you to a midnight show tonight If you can keep a secret I got a blanket in the back seat on my mind And a little place that sits beneath the sky She turned her face to speak But no one heard her cry Drive faster, boy Drive faster, boy

I know there's a hope There's too many people trying to help me cope You got a real short skirt I wanna look up, look up, look up Yeah, yeah

We were just in time Let me take a little more off your mind There's something in my head Somewhere in the back sayin' We were just a good thing We were such a good thing

Make it go away without a word But promise me you'll stay And fix these things I've heard

Make it go away, oh wa oh wa oh Drive faster, boy

The crashing tide can't hide a guilty girl With jealous hearts that start with gloss and curls I took my baby's breath beneath the chandelier Of stars an atmosphere And watched her disappear Into the midnight show...

Faster, faster, faster, Faster, faster, faster... Oh no no no no no no, no no no no no no... If you keep a secret Well baby I can keep... If you can keep a secret She said she loved me... If you keep a secret... I can keep a secret She said she loved me... If you can keep a secret... Well baby I can keep... If you can keep a secret...
