

The Kooks, Watching The Ships Roll In

watching the ships roll in, hoping that i , will still be his friend, in the morning watching those ships roll by, wishing that i, could move this earth, if i could, for you i would do.

i've got nothing to say,
i've got nothing to lay at your feet
i just keep hoping,hoping, you will be the man, that I couldn't be still watching the ocean move, if only i could show you my soul and places I've been.

watching the ocean curl.
and little girls playing in the sand, as i walk.
longing to listen to you talk.

but i've got nothing to say,
i've got nothing to lay at your feet
i just keep hoping,hoping,you will be the man,
that i couldnt be

i got nothing to say, i got nothing to lay at your feet i just keep hoping,hoping,you be the man,
that i couldnt be