

The Lemonheads, Anyway

There was a time, I would've trusted you
There was a time, that I would give it all away

There was a time, i'd give it just to you
There was a time, it didn't matter
What you'd say
What you'd say

I loved you so but that was long ago
When it only takes a day
It doesn't matter anyway
It doesn't matter anyway

Lying on my own again
Standing for whatever comes along
You'll never be alone again
You're only lonely when you let yourself get strong get too strong

(chorus)

Look at your catastrophe Look at me how it has to be
Say goodbye it's all the past to me Just don't try not the last to be free and stupid in the sunrise
Summer blowin' by and shining in the trees
I get the feeling that you feel no surprise unexpected morning had me on my knees on my knees

(chorus)
