

The Long Blondes, Too Clever By Half

I know your only doing what comes naturally (x2)

Oh you, you and her a pretty girl, you both plan to leave your lovers, and run off with each other, and

Oh you, you said I know Ive been unkind, and you swore blinded it was the last time youd ever leave

Oh you thought you were clever, you thought you were smart, but you were just too clever by half,

While you were making plans I was going with her man, then we left you to be clever, to be clever to

Oh you, you thought that you were pretty smart, but when you and her were out I would go round to

No I dont have to tell you what we did next (x3)

But youre not so clever now

Oh you thought you were clever, you thought you were smart, but you were just too clever by half,

While you were making plans I was going with her man, then we left you to be clever, to be clever to

I know your only doing what comes naturally (x4)