

The Lynns, What Am I Doing Loving You

(Jamie O'Hara)

I give you love, you make me cry
I tell you truth, you tell me lies
Pain is all you ever put me through
What am I doing loving you baby
What am I doing loving you

I lay my heart out on the line
You tear it in two every time
Hurting's all you really know how to do
What am I doing loving you baby
What am I doing loving you

The price I pay is way too high
Too many heartaches, too many tears cried
I've hung around I don't know why
Far too long
I see the light, I see the door
Don't need the misery anymore
Go on and give somebody else the blues
What am I doing loving you baby

The price I pay is way too high
Too many heartaches, too many tears cried
I've hung around I don't know why
Far too long
I see the light, I see the door
Don't need the misery anymore
Go on and give somebody else the blues
What am I doing loving you baby

What am I doing loving you
Hurting's all you really know how to do
Pain is all you put me through
Go on and give somebody else the blues
What am I doing loving you baby
What am I doing loving you
What am I doing loving you