

The Magnetic North, So Long

SO LONG

Apologies first and foremost it's been years since i've called or wrote it's funny how i ignore the most vital thinking that we are always close lord knows that i never meant to forget but the sense of sentiment , is anept you were right it's evidential i've been better with my instrumentals than friends here i am again never learn can't return the call show concern at times i think i change then again im still writing letters that i never send can't make amends, can't reverse all i got is pencils pens and a verse you deserve the years i disapeared now thats all, it's been so long

CHORUS:

Since I been weithout you remember me and you, were like family no song could ever amount to the memories that we had, can we hold on though this time is borrowed I'm away you cant always stay Go on though I cannot follow
But I swear youll never hear me say I know it's a bit late to notice it but today i fliped this in my photo picks and there was one with me and you laughing our inside jokes were everlasting man you had to see it we had the biggest grins damn we were the best of friends no wishing we could say it in the present tense but we begin every sentence with remember when and yea we had a blast but what about now?
the only time we chat is when im in town friends are way convienient i can't believe it we were ties back when mics was were singing & beating i mean it how could it come to this out of everyone i lost, everyone i miss it's you and only you you were the truest comrad a homie knew

[CHORUS]

Hard to top a simple rule, not a single thought
To my minds aloof, and these shingles got but a single truth
That My life just stops when I'm missing you Given to melancholy other days I'm staring at the skyline at the bay Thought I saw your silhouette, felt the tears cause I know youve been dead for seven years
Some bruises will never heal, when we realize that I'm still here
No matter what the burden that happen in the past
Its sad to let it burn the friendship that we had so lets Value what we have left and forget all the past tense Though Ive done some things that I cant excuse
I hope you understand I'm still the man you knew But thank you, I dont say yet enough but thank you
I know its not enough to thank you but I'm grateful
No living creation could ever replace you
So I pray you and I will never stray to a place too far away to erase you Though its painful I remain strong I stay faithful even though its been so long

[CHORUS]

Apologies first and foremost
I gotta stop talking to your ghost
But you keep talking to me
These dreams got me walking in a sleep

Please stop reminding me, cant subtract it, flashbacks did???
Broken glass, car window, broken as you fall into comatose
So I pray for the sudden Holy Ghost
Will you say the only that matters most is in vain
The more you hold close the more it fades
More it replays, a curse
Here I am again, with my verses
You deserve the years I disappeared
Not a song, its been so long.
[CHORUS]