

The Mavericks, Because Of You

Because of You

I remember the time
When in your eyes
I was king and I had everything

But you left me and now
You have dealt misery out
And that's all that you have left here for me

And now you've taken all of my favorite things
The car and the house and all my furnishings
But there's one thing I know that I'll never lose
I own this broken heart because of you

(line 'em up)

And now you've taken all of my favorite things
The car and the house and all my furnishings
But there's one thing I know that I'll never lose
I own this broken heart because of you
I own this broken heart because of you
I own this broken heart and I owe it all to you