

The Methadones, Whole Lot Of Nothing

i dont need a thrill a minute to be content anymore the older i become i dont care if im occasionally bored i used to think that some how i was missing out if i wasnt where all the fun was usually it was a whole lot of nothing most the people were pretty lame yet i would go along and luagh when all the punch lines were all the same there used to be a time when i couldnt sit without the tv on kept trying to run away from something going wrong kept my mind busy and ran myself into the ground there were plenty things i was avoiding usually it was a whole lot of nothing yet it consumed my mind wouldnt stop to catch my breath i was to affraid of what i'd find now i am for peace of mind so i left these empty things behind because what i had was a whole lot of nothing i believe we rip what we sow and the truth i got to know was the sum of a whole lot of nothing
