

The Methadones, You Don't Know Me Anymore

I saw you walking down the street
For a second we were eye to eye
There was a flicker of familiarity
As we passed each other by
There was a time I knew you well
But that was a long time ago
You don't know me anymore
I had to turn my head back and take in this scene again
How did it ever come to this?
The question filled my mind
There was a time I knew you well
But now I'll just let bygones be
You don't know me anymore
I felt like a jerk with nothing to say
But what's to talk about?