

The Mission, Drown In Blue

Ravaged, by the lines of age
Too many appetites to sate
Blue and as dark as death
Been swimming too long,
Can't catch my breath
I'm going down again
Don't wanna drown again like this,
Don't wanna fall apart like this,
Can't let the world see me like this

Hollow, empty as a promise
Don't get no pleasure from this
Sorrow, as cold as snow
Been holding on too long, can't let it go
Tears me asunder again
I'm going under again
Got no one but myself to blame
It's dragging me down into the Blue
I'm slipping under without you
So please don't leave me here again
