

The Moffatts, Typical

Written by: The Moffatts & John Shanks

VERSE # 1

Open your eyes, hear all your voices inside my head
It's no surprise, I'm filtering thru all the things you've said

CHANNEL # 1

I can't believe that you're here right here
You keep pretending there's no end

CHORUS

If I'm such a loser
Then why you hanging 'round me
You're always trying to change me
You always say if only
And I keep listening to all the things you said
You're so miserable and I'm invisible
This love predictable
You're so TYPICAL

VERSE # 2

Taking your cue, from a magazine, that talk's to you
Filling your head
Without an original point of view

CHANNEL # 2

Oh look it here she comes again
Run away train coming 'round the bend

CHORUS

BRIDGE

It's always the same
You can't find sunshine in pouring rain, (pouring rain)
Day by day finding someone else to blame

CHANNEL # 1

I can't believe that you're here again
You keep pretending there's no end there's no end

CHORUS

Then I'd be you instead

CHORUS

Inconceivable, unbelievable
Undeniable, uncontrollable
