

The Notwist, On Planet Off

i have never been here on my own it's pushing me off today i can hear the clink in every bone but i would never beat you up for being that off today i hope i never swim
my rounds alone
there's always someone who knows me well i hope i never run my lanes alone and there's always someone, who knows too well that i would never beat one up.