The Ocean, Eoarchaean

Where does it come from And how was it made? Who died in the process And who got paid a starvation wage? Shopcops protect A terrifying place Willing to serve you 24 hours a day Slick etiquettes A great masquerade Fluorescent tubes illuminate milelong aisles Aseptic floors Colorful shelves: myriads of products, but all their content is the same Fooled and deceived Who made us fall for this sham? Who made us swallow the bait that we need all that shit? Place your blind faith In every produce Don't hesitate or enquire, just follow our rules No one complains Customer is king Why would you bother, just enter the pin Who made us fall Fall for the myth That we would be better off with everything at our fingertips? No one realized How somewhere along the line We have surrendered to the great void in our lives Overwhelmed by the immense selection Exerted to cover our inanition Afraid that there's something that we could be missing We'd pay any price to buy everything We stand in line and smile....Celebrate the great emptiness of our lives Celebrate the great emptiness of our lives Celebrate the great emptiness of our lives Celebrate the great emptiness of our lives