

The Panic Channel, Blue Bruises

Another lifetime ago two people made one solemn vow to love honor and obey now we got nothing but the shame and lame excuses

hold me down but you won't hold me back somehow this bruise will be the last
this bruise will be
the last
this bruise will be
the last

it's hard to talk with your tongue between your teeth it's hard to walk with only the eggshells underneath the stabbing of winter white will reap fresh abuses

hold me down but you won't hold me back
somehow this bruise will be the last
this bruise will be
the last
this bruise will be
the last

hold me down but you won't hold me back...

hold me down but you won't hold me back
somehow this bruise will be the last I'm gone, I'm never coming back mark my words -
these black eyes
when they've healed
will have seen
the end