

The Partridge Family, I Heard You Singing Your Song

Now the walls took along time to crumble
And the jumbled pieces of my life
Took the long way around to come together

And then I heard you singing your song
And I knew I'd been living all wrong
And I couldn't help but sing along
La la la la la la la la la la

Never giving, always taking
And faking every move I make
To keep me safe and well protected

(Chorus)

Sing a long

Sing a long

I was almost down to empty
And the world looked mighty cold
And then I heard you sing a simple song
And the sun came a rushin' back to fill my soul

I heard you singing your song
Heard you singing your song
Heard you singing your song
Heard you singing your song
Singing your song
Heard you singing your song
Heard you singing your song
Hear you singing
