

The Perishers, When I Wake Up Tomorrow

If everything's the same
When I wake up tomorrow - I'm giving up If nothing here has changed
When I wake up tomorrow - I'm taking off October left some wounds but it took a while to see It's way too soon
to say what it's done to me
But as long as I'm ok
I want to figure it out myself
Let's just hope that in a day I'll find a way December came today and I'm just as bored as ever
No way I'll stay
I'll leave this place forever
I hope there's time to live a while before I die and if some day I find that time I'll try to make the cold winter months seem just like warm July I hope there's time to live before I die
And as long as I'm ok I want to figure it out myself Let's just hope that in a day I'll find my way
