The Psychedelic Furs, Mother-Son

mary comes in a bows and all her lipstick pearls and clothes come falling down come falling at her feet got a knife and a spoon and a rose on my suit mother-son dark as crows here above i keep two feet on my floor she's like a dove there's a law she keeps come falling down steal her things come falling down all her rings come falling down all that she was sold second hand handed you with a heart to fill my shoes and mother-son dark as crows she comes knocking down sad mother-son on a cross in her sleep on her sheets with a lie that she keeps in here, nothing breathes a penny sent for your thought she comes knocking down my door sad mother-son mother-son