

The Raconteurs, Now That You're Gone

what will you do
now that you're gone?
onto somebody new well, that didn't take long and where you're gonna go not that I care

and who can you trust
now, that I'm not there?

never known such unhappiness never thought it would be like this
what will I do, now that you're gone?
now that you're gone

and what will you do
now, you're all alone?
who's gonna keep you warm out there in the cold?

and who's gonna rescue you when you're lost at sea?
and who's gonna love you if it isn't me?

never known such unhappiness
never thought it would be like this
what will I do, now that you're gone?
now that you're gone
