The Raconteurs, Now That You're Gone

what will you do now that you're gone? onto somebody new well, that didn't take long and where you're gonna go not that I care and who can you trust now, that I'm not there?

never known such unhappiness never thought it would be like this what will I do, now that you're gone? now that you're gone and what will you do now, you're all alone? who's gonna keep you warm out there in the cold?

and who's gonna rescue you when you're lost at see? and who's gonna love you if it isn't me?

never known such unhappiness never thought it would be like this what will I do, now that you're gone? now that you're gone
