

The Radios, Because She Said So

The moon is golden and the stars are bright
No lonesome reeling in my head tonight
She said she's mine and she will never
Never let me go
She says we will last forever
And I know she's right I know

Because she said so
Because she told me so
Because she said
She would really never let me go

A crystal rainbow in a diamond sky
And every inside makes an outside fly
She said she's mine and she will never
Oh never let me go
She says we will last forever
And I know she's right I know

Because she said so
Because she told me so
Because she said
She would really never let me go

The moon is golden and the stars are bright
No lonely feelings because she said
Because she said said so said so
Because she said so