

The Rolling Stones, In another land

In another land where the breeze and the Trees and flowers were blue I stood and held your hand.