The Rolling Stones, In another land

In another land where the breeze and the Trees and flow	wers were blue I stood and held your hand