

The Secret Machines, Breathe

When you hold me I can't breathe
When you kiss me your whole world gets weak
When you say my love has gone away
Well, you know it's you who's half to blame

And your love is second nature and I don't believe you do
When you say it's all for nothing
And you know it's all for you

When you hold me I can't breathe
When you kiss me your whole world is weak

When the river breaks
Lord I hope it don't bring down the house