The Story So Far, Daughters

Before you twist your tongue Know there's no chance at all Came here against my will And my wills tested strong

Until now, I know we've never met But I don't want to talk and I'm already upset That you'll meet your demise in a drunken man's bed Take another pull to make certain you forget

And to think that you're somebody's daughter Away at college not getting smarter

Everything changes when all the lights in the room are as low as you, But don't trip you'll sober up soon Regain an honest perspective as you puke on the floor Can't remember why your knees are so cut up and sore

And you'll be hung over all day. (all day! all day!) You'll be hung over all day. (all day! all day!) You'll be hung over all day. (all day! all day!) You'll be hung over all day. (all day! all day!) You'll be hung over all day. (all day! all day!)