The Sundays, Goodbye

I vow that it's goodbye I vow that it's goodbye and God bless Why did we have to assume We're exactly the same? O no, talking about yourself

I vow that it's goodbye to the old ways Those stories were a good read They were dumb as well I could never be seen Falling down on my knees crawling O no, talk about a sell

O as the heavens shudder baby I belong to you O they said you get what you deserve And all they said was true

So is this what it's come to? Am I cold or just a little bit warm? O well Just give me an easy life and a peaceful death
