

The The, Slow Train To Dawn

I followed that bead of sweat, to the small of your back, from the nape of your neck, Lightin' it up, with every drag upon my cigarette.
It can run, but it can't hide-- Like the unspoken feelings on your mind.
I'm too tense to be tender, your too weak to be true.
You try to make it easier upon yourself,
By makin' it hard on you!
but it's the lies in your eyes that make me wanna cry-- It's just sometimes I get so lonesome
--I could die.
I'm just another western guy, with desires that I can't satisfy So all the love I gave to you Means nothing at all.
Dear God, God, God, this slow train to dawn.
So are you lying when you say you love me.
I'm lying when I say I don't-- We've opened our hearts to let each other look in,
To have and to hold,
but it's the words that remain unsaid, that are the words I wanna hear you speak, I bet the birds start singing, & the sun comes up, before we fall asleep-- Oh the tears in your eyes, just make me wanna cry, It's just sometimes I get so lonesome--I Could Die!!