

The Twins, A Little More Alive

We talk a lot together
And think we'll talk so forever
Our differences are put under sedation
We have a light by which we see
Within our world of secrecy
Joined in an internal exploration.

We are happy this way
Let our thoughts carry us away.

I feel a little more alive
You and me we're drifting with the tide
I feel a little more alive
You and me we're drifting side by side.

Of love we never spoke a word
Somehow it seemed just to absurd
To interfere with our imagination
We have a light by which we see
Within our world of lunacy
Joined in an internal exploration.

We are happy this way
Let our thoughts carry us away.

I feel a little more alive
You and me we're drifting with the tide
I feel a little more alive
You and me we're drifting side by side.
