

The Unseen, Dead And Gone

You were ruining my life and now you're dead and gone
You were a violent drunk and now your dead and gone
The damage has been caused and now you're dead and gone
On the day of your funeral my life was reborn

The first time I saw you I could sense bad luck
It was eleven a.m. as you were drinking on my couch
And then you moved in like a torrential rain storm
You had nowhere to go but I knew where you where going

You smiled when I was home but you abused when I was gone
You would hit my younger brothers and then you'd taunt my mom
And when I would confront you you'd say it was a lie
Well I was at your funeral happy you had died.

Dead and gone

That night in the kitchen i trashed my house
There was a fist fight and we threw you out
And you were loaded with no place to go
So you blacked out and passed out in the snow
We got a phone call saying that you were dead
All the shit you put me threw raced through my head
You died on a dirty motel floor
Now you can't make me suffer anymore

Do you see what I see
You were a violent drunk
Do you see what I see
You were ruining my life
Do you see what I see
The damage you have caused
On the day of your funeral
My life was reborn
