

The Veils, One Night on Earth

I shook from a dream I wasn't here
To shake from my own sight
Shake, ache from the light of everything
Shake for that which sinks but caan't drown
Your face
It will not be back again
Oh fate, your face
To summon it away is to back down
I'm not so alone in here tonight
The light shines off the pennies in the street
And love feels such a plausible delight
Now I've learnt the lyrics in full to Auld Land Sine
Oh fate, your face
It will not be back again
Oh fate, your face
Has summoned it away
Oh fate, your face
It will not be back again
Oh fate, your face
To summon it away is to back down
Now the wolves all howl
And the birds all sing it:
"He Backed Down."