

The Wilkinsons, Not Today

It's been raining five days straight
This roof of mine could use a break
The clouds are bound to blow away
Someday, someday
There's just some things you can't control
Like when it rains or when someone goes
And broken hearts do mend I know
Someday, someday
But not today
Today is for missing the way you laughed
Sitting with this stack of old photographs
While the black and white movie plays
I'm giving in
It's a little self indulgent
But right now that's okay
I'll get over you someday
But not today
I get advice from all my friends
How to get back on my feet again
And it will happen I know when
Someday, someday
But not today
Today is for missing the way you laughed
Sitting with this stack of old photographs
While the black and white movie plays I'm giving in
It's a little self indulgent
But right now that's okay
I'll get over you someday
But not today
Maybe as soon as tomorrow
This storm will pass
I don't think 24 hours
Is a lot to ask
I'm giving in
It's a little self indulgent
But right now that's okay
I'll get over you someday
But not today