

Theatre of Tragedy, And when He Falleth

"Be my kin free fro vernal sin, Bridle the thoughts of thy Master."
"There hath past away a glore fro the Earth;
A glore that in the hearts and minds of men,
Men dementd - blindfoldd by light,
Hourisheth as weed in their well-groom'd garths."
"Might I too was blindfoldd ere,
"The quality of mercy and absolution,
Tho' years have master'd me
Whence cometh such qualities?
A masque of this to fashion:
Build thyself a mirror in which Seer blest, thou best philosopher!"
Solely wanton images of thy desire appear!"
"'Tis the Divine Comedy -
"'Tis the Divine Tragedy -
The fool and the mocking court;
The fool and the mocking court;
Fool, kneel now, and ring thy bells!
Fool, kneel now, and ring thy bells!
We hold the Earth fro Heaven away."
Make us guffaw at thy futile follies,
Yet for our blunders - Oh, in shame;
Earth beareth no balm for mistakes -
We hold the Earth fro Hell away."
"Believe? In a deily long dead? -
I would rather be a pagan suckld in creeds outworn;
Whith fartytales fill'd up in head;
Thoughts of the Book stillborn."
"Shadow of annoyance - Ne'er come hither!

...And when He falleth, He falleth like Lucifer, Ne'er to ascend again..."
[ Dialog from "And when He Falleth" ]
[Male Voice]

That cross you wear around your neck;
is it only a decoration, or are you a true Christian believer?

[Female Voice]

Yes, I believe - truly
Then I want you to remove it at once!
- and never to wear it within this castle again! Do you know how a falcon is trained my dear? Her eyes are sown shut. Blinded temporarily she suffers the whims of her God patiently, until her will is submerged and she learns to serve - as your God taught and blinded you with crosses.

You had me take off my cross because it offended....

It offended no-one. No - it simply appears to me to be discourteous to... to wear
the symbol of a deity long dead.

My ancestors tried to find it. And to open the door that seperates us from our Creator.

But you need no doors to find God.

If you believe....

Believe?! If you believe you are gullible.
Can you look around this world and believe in the goodness of a god who rules it?
Famine, Pestilence, War, Disease and Death!
They rule this world.

There is also love and life and hope.

Very little hope I assure you. No. If a god of love and life ever did exist... he is long since dead. Someone... something rules in his place.
