

Therapy?, So Called Life

We all want cheap happiness now
Easily placated like sheep and cows

We do what we're told
And we buy what we're sold

In this so called life
There should be so much more
In this so called life
Oh, we're better than this
This so called life

Is it only the dumb who are safe in this world?
The ones quite content to roam with the herd

And do what they're told
And buy what they're sold

In this so called life
There should be so much more
In this so called life
Oh, we're better than this
This so called life

'cos we do what we're told
And buy what we're sold

In this so called life
There should be so much more
In this so called life
Oh, we're better than this
This so called life

There should be so much more
In this so called life
Oh, we're better than
Oh, we're better than
