

All the people are so happy now, their heads are cavin' in
I'm glad they are a snowman with protective rubber skin
But every little thing's a domino that falls on different dots (yo)
And crashes into everything that tries to make it stop (oooo)
And the mirror, it reflects a tiny dancin' skeleton
Surrounded by a fleshy overcoat and swaddled in
A furry hat, elastic mask, a pair of shiny marble dice (yo)
Some people call them snake eyes but to me they look like mice

All the people are so happy now, their heads are cavin' in
I'm glad they are a snowman with protective rubber skin
But every little thing's a domino that falls on different dots (yo)
And crashes into everything that tries to make it stop (oooo)

No no no no nothing's smelling like a rose
But I don't care if no one's coming up for air
I know that nothing's gonna change my clothes ever anymore

They Might Be Giants - Nothing's Gonna Change My Clothes w Teksciory.pl