They Might Be Giants, Wearing A Raincoat

Wearing a raincoat is flying around in a plane Made of a raincoat But when you think of that You hurt your mind And you'll need a friend To talk you down

Needing a friend to talk you down Is food that comes from a pipe But when you hate the food That comes from a pipe You will turn to drugs To help you sleep

Turning to drugs to help you sleep Will only lead to sleep And sleeping is a gateway drug To being awake, being awake again

Being awake is swimming around in a lake Of the undead And the undead are like A bunch of friends That demand constant attention

Demanding constant attention
Will only lead to attention
And once they have your attention
They use it to ask for attention
And once they have that attention
They use it to ask for attention

Wearing a raincoat is flying around in a yellow rubber airplane Made out of a raincoat, yes but when you think of that You hurt your mind And you'll need your mind For later on

Needing a mind for later on Is a friend that comes at a price But when you hate the friend That comes at a price You will play the drums To help you sleep
