Three Doors Down, So i need you

If you could step into my head, Tell me would you still know me If you woke up in my bed, Tell me then would you hold me Or would you simply let it lie, Leaving me to wonder why I cant get you out of this head I call mine

And I will say

Oh no I cant let you go, my little girl Because youre holding up my world,

so I need you

Your imitation of my walk And the perfect way you talk

Its just a couple of the million things

That I love about you

So I need you

So I need you

So I need you

So I need you

And if I jumped off the Brooklyn Bridge,

Tell me would you still follow me

And if I made you mad today,

Tell me would you love me tomorrow?

Please

Or would you say that you dont care,

And then leave me standing here

Like the fool who is drowning in despair and screamin`

Oh no I cant let you go, my little girl

Because youre holding up my world,

So I need you

Your imitation of my walk

And the perfect way you talk

Its just a couple of the million things

That I love about you

So I need you

So I need you

So I need you

So I need you

Im on my own

Im on my own

Im on my own

Oh no I cant let you go, my little girl Because youre holding up my world,

So I need you

Your imitation of my walk

And the perfect way you talk

Its just a couple of the million things

That I love about you

So I need you

So I need you

So I need you

So I need you
