

Thumb, Thank You For Hating Me

As I'm walking along side this road called life through all these years, how many times have I found myself - drowning in tears, pain and agony, as far as I can see - you never did a thing for me! I tried so hard through all my life, but I never got a positive reply, I was weary I was weak inside, but I was angry too, so I realized...

I better won't be, what you want me to be...
I better don't care for what you see in me !

I thank you for hating me, don't want you to believe in me! I thank you, 'cause it feels so good to be mistreated, to be misunderstood, to be no good.

But now I've gotta say I can't believe how much I used to be shattered, whatever I did, your opinion it mattered to me, you'll see, today is the day I'll be what I wanna be! I thank you 'cause you hated me, you were leaving me room enough to be, ev'rything you ever wanted to be, but now I've got this urge inside of me...

Here's my revenge for what you did !