

Thunder, You Don't Know What Love Is

Waiting and wondering what tonight will bring
Like the sound of your footsteps, but I don't hear a thing
I've tried a million ways to occupy my time
But nothing can fill the void that you left behind

Looking back it's easy to see
That you were killing the time with me
Oh baby, you don't know what love is

I went to that special place where we used to sit
We'd talk about future there but I guess my face didn't fit
Why did you do it, girl? What did you have to prove?
I don't think you ever really loved me, ain't it the truth?

You told me what I wanted to hear
And I was fooling myself I fear
Oh baby, you don't know what love is
You don't know, baby

Was there ever a time when it wasn't a lie?
Did you ever believe in me?
Cos I must have been blind missing every sighn
While you knew you were using me, you knew you were using me

As gray as the sky above, that's how I feel Cos you turned me inside out, took away my will
Though I know I'll feel better in time
I can't get you out of my mind
Oh baby, you don't know what love is

Don't deny it mama you don't know what love is
One last time baby, you don't know what love is
